BEAUTIFUL AND HOLY

I discovered this prayer in an old Celtic Daily Prayer book. It expresses things so well that I thought I would share it in my article this week.

Experience Your love so deeply
That I am free to
Face the future with a steady eye,
Forgiven,
And strong in hope.

Author unknown

O God,
I cannot undo the past,
Or make it never have happened!
--neither can You. There are some things
That are not possible even for You
--but not many.

I ask you,
Humbly
And from the bottom of my heart:
Please, God,
Would You write straight
With my crooked lines?
Out of the serious mistakes of my life
Will you make something beautiful for You?

Teach me to live at peace with You,
To make peace with others
And even with myself.

Give me fresh vision. Let me

This reminded me of my frailty. Of our frailty. I was prompted to think of my utter dependence upon the Creator of the universe, who has called me into existence for His glory. His deepest desire is to have me trust Him for my life and my eternal life – to trust Him with my life no matter my trustworthiness or my “holiness.” He has called me to be His. He has called you to be His. Choose this day to allow Him to create something beautiful and holy with you.

We are each called to be His.
Forever.

I'll see you Sunday in that place where we gather to be reminded that we are His.

Terry
